

Titanium Products

Titanium helps fight pain by emitting energy effective in controlling the flow of bioelectric current. Phild Processing stabilizes the flow of electric current. Phild Processed titanium emits a uniform wave that helps control disturbances in the human nervous system. When the current stabilizes, the muscles relax and blood circulation increases, allowing easier movement and pain relief in the muscles and joints. Effective for temporary relief from bursitis, sciatica, tendonitis, certain types of arthritis and other conditions. Professional athletes experience better fluidity of movement and quicker reflexes.
